FROM OUR TRAVELING CORRESPONDENT.

BOISE CITY, June 25, 1865.

LAST LOOK AT IDAHO CITY.

Any one who has ever resided in any one of the States or Territories upon the Pacific, or even in Utah or Colorado, will find acquaintances and soon feel at home in Idaho City. I was surprised at the number of familiar faces greeting me on every side, and had soon a feeling of acquaintance with the noisy saws and hammers, rushing sluice heads and delving picks and shovels. During the ten days I was there, Idaho City became more finished in appearance and more replete with bustle and trade. It seems to be generally conceded that the mines in the Basin are less profitable than they have hitherto been, though I could not but think that many years must elapse before the miner would cease to find remunerative employment on the hills and benches, and in the creeks and gulches. In sight of the town in every direction wherever the eye ranged, could be seen excavations, some of which were still going on, while many were being relinquished for the season, as the water gradually failed. The creeks are now running low, and many thousands will soon be at work in their main channels, while the working of quartz mines will give employment to many more.

Speaking of acquaintances, I met men at every town who had a friendly word; and in my last ramble, the evening before leaving, I strolled up to Pine Grove, (as the people there call it,) about a mile above Idaho City, where I saw teams unloading a large stock of goods for Mr. J. A. Abbott, whom I had met at Portland. Idaho City really commences at Pine Grove, where Abbot & Co. trade; and within one quarter of a mile of Washoe store, are diggings now paying $100 per day to the hand, down to the Warm Springs three miles below on Buena Vista Bar, along the whole course of which stores are erected.

OWYHEE, June 29, 1865.

The stage ride from Boise City to this place, is the most dreary and desolate imaginable for forty miles, until having crossed Snake river and the divide to Reynolds' creek, we found ourselves upon the more agreeable road to this place. Thirty miles of sage brush desert lay between Snake river and Boise City, and at every step clouds of dust were raised almost suffocating to all aboard. I found four old acquaintances on the stage:—Messrs. Ripley and Levy, of Portland, and two others. Hill Beachy, the indefatigable mountaineer, and whose energy and character has been illustrated in this northern mining region, was one of the passengers, and I learned much from him of the different routes leading to Idaho. The hot sun and stifling dust of the desert was left behind us at noon, as we started at early dawn, and the six horses that were attached at each station, made quick work of the almost level road. The road over the mountain was pleasant in comparison, and we reached Ruby City, having traveled sixty miles by supper time.

STATIONS BY THE WAY.

We got our breakfast at an adobe house of very comfortable appearance fifteen miles out of Boise City. The emigration across the plains has introduced many families into Idaho, and supplied them by comfortable stopping places for the traveler, where he might go hungry and uncared for one year ago. At this place, where kindly nature had planted a spring, we had an excellent breakfast, and were waited on by a damsel of 13, dressed as neat as a pink, and flourishing in full [illegible] of crinoline. When wanting my cup replenished with coffee, I said, "Sissy, some more coffee, if you please," whereupon you should have seen Hill Beachy lay down his knife and fork and gaze in astonishment. Said he: "It is taking desperate chances to talk in that way to young ladies in this country." The next changing place was at Forest Grove, where we found a stone [illegible], ditto hut for the herdsman, six horses in waiting, a tule swale and a bleak and treeless ravine leading down, Snake river, visible in the distance. That wag Charley Barnes, whom every body knows of old as an expressman, and of late interested in the Boise City and Owyhee Stage Line, named it "Forest Grove," a joke of the first water. A grinning skull lay on the stone wall—of a white man evidently—probably some poor fellow the Indians had waylaid asleep near here in years gone by—a part of the terrible history of these plains that never will be told. The next station was in the hills, barren, drear and desolate, before reaching Reynolds' creek. The driver suddenly stopped, announcing the "stage house," and sure enough, in a near ravine was a tent pitched in the arid waste, but no horses. Half an hour elapsed before the herder appeared with a team for us. Up Reynolds' creek and over the mountain brought us to Booneville, on Jordan creek, three miles below here.

OPPRESSIVE TAXATION.

I must, en passant, mention for the information of the world outside of Idaho, that her legislature has invented and enacted a most annoying and oppressive law concerning taxation. Dr. Farnham was stopped on the road to South Boise, the value of his team, machinery, &c., assessed and the taxes enforced as he passed through Boise City. Teams owned in Oregon and Washington, with value of freight, pack trains and cargo, travelers riding horses or carrying guns or watches, are waylaid by Sheriffs and unmercifully assessed. It is a strife between the different counties as to who shall have the first chance to tax the passer by. A Mr. Ball, from Walla Walla, was mulcted in about $250 coin by officials; at the same time his teams have been assessed in Washington, and his cargo of flour was sold and of course will be liable to still another tax. These counties are enormously in debt and seem determined to omit no opportunity to extinguish the debt at the expense of the outside world.

A CHAPTER ON CRICKETS.

The crickets are infesting this region, to the very serious detriment of all farms and gardens. I first saw them on Powder river, which stream as we passed it, was literally crowded with millions of them floating down the whirling tide. The center of this current was black with them. I am told they do not easily drown, but land at some eligible point. In the Payette every field almost, was cut down by them. The Boise valley was full of them, but here they are more plentiful than anywhere else. The Idaho House, when we arrived, was black with them inside and out, and the first night spent there was rendered uncomfortable and wakeful by the constant progress of the great sprawling insects over the would-be sleeper. I have seen them on a snow bank, making it seem alive, and there were places on the mountain where bushels were piled up along the creek or on the willow branches. They do not seem to remain long in a place, but many a farmer has found a field of twenty acres cut down while his back was turned. In a country where farming has but just commenced, such a pest is most unfortunate. It is ruinous to many industrious men, and discouraging to attempted cultivation. At present they have passed mostly away from here, their habits being to move on and not stay long in any one place. They once formed a most plentiful supply of food for the Indians hereabouts, who live principally upon dried cricket meat.

STAGE LINE TO AND FROM IDAHO.

The different lines of stages running to the Columbia river, have combined for the purpose of more effectively accommodating the travel, and a daily line now runs from Idaho City to Wallula or Umatilla. This insures that the travel will be accommodated in the best manner possible, and that good time will be made upon the road. The most disagreeable part of the road here will be avoided when a steamer is placed on the Snake river above Old's Ferry, from which point it is nearly one hundred miles to the mouth of Reynolds' Creek. Then there will be only two hundred miles of staging to undergo to reach Portland. Messrs. Leach & Co., including W. A. Gates and Chas. Barnes, well known as an old expressman, own the line from Boise City here, which runs three times a week, and Captain Mullan has a line from Boise City to South Boise, some eighty five miles, said to be over a good natural road. Hill Beachy has discontinued the Humboldt Line for the present having lost many stage horses, some 17, I think, he said, by the Piutes, but expects to continue it again as soon as the Government affords protection. A train from Chico has just arrived, having been nineteen days on the road. The Humboldt Express has also discontinued on account of the Indians who have taken their stock. Messrs. Greathouse & Kelly own the lines in the Boise Basin and running from there to Boise City. All the lines seem to be effectually stocked and well managed.

The Daily Oregonian.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

WEDNESDAY MORNING JULY 12, 1865.

The Upper Columbia River

Most persons here have an indistinct idea of the geography of the country which lies on the Columbia above its confluence with Snake river. Many have a confused notion of the location of points which are often mentioned and which are daily growing in importance. We have thought it well to endeavor to give some information in review of these matters and of the mining interest of the upper Columbia.

White Bluffs is situated about forty miles above the mouth of Snake river. From Wallula to White Bluffs the river is smooth and deep. Having no obstructions whatever it may be navigated. At this last named point the river cannot be navigated further until we reach Colville. Between these two places it makes a long detour so that following its course the distance from one point to the other is about [illegible] miles. The stream is broken by rapids the whole way that boats cannot run upon it. The bars along the river have long been worked, yielding small pay, but they are now almost abandoned by the whites who are looking for richer mines and in their stead are come great numbers of Chinese, some from Oregon but the greater number from British Columbia. It is believed that there are now above one thousand of these persons working on the river between Priest's Rapids and Colville. They are said to be making from two to five or six dollars per day.

From White Bluffs to Colville by land the distance is one hundred and fifty miles. The road is excellent, there being no mountains or hills, and but one considerable stream—the Spokane—on the way. White Bluffs is the nearest point to Colville which steamboats can reach, and is now a point of some importance. It seems to be favorably situated to receive a large share of the trade of the upper Columbia river.

Above Colville, for several hundred miles, the river flows through a succession of lakes, rendering navigation easy. Capt. Len White's steamer now building, will soon be completed. He intends to run this boat between Colville and Boat Encampment. Near the latter place very rich mines were discovered not long since by a party of our countrymen. Some five or six hundred persons are known to be now at work there. We have good authority for saying that some of them are making as much as one hundred dollars each per day. We do not know what the extent of these new mines is. The country there has not been thoroughly explored, but new discoveries are constantly making in that vicinity. From Colville to Boat Encampment the distance is probably nearly three hundred miles.

Immediately beyond the line which divides Washington Territory and British Columbia, the Hudson's Bay Company have established a new trading post, which they call Fort Shepherd. This point is on the Columbia river, about fifty miles above Colville. From Fort Shepherd they expect to have command of all the trade of that region. It is said to be much easier to send goods from this point to Shuswap lake, and other places in that direction, than to carry them over the mountains from Victoria.

The Kootenai mines are yielding considerable gold, but many who have been unable to find claims there have gone up the Columbia to Boat Encampment. There seems to be much activity in the search for gold throughout that whole region. Trade there is also steadily increasing.

There has been strong effort to make a road over from the waters of Fraser river to the Columbia, but the attempt has resulted in nothing. Between these two streams there is an exceedingly high chain of mountains over which it will be forever impossible to carry goods. Hence everything that is consumed east of these high mountains must go by way of the Columbia. The demands of that country are gradually creating a lucrative trade. The development of the mines of the Upper Columbia will bring wealth to our merchants and producers, and aid the growth of all parts of our State.

The Exceptions.—Following through a course of statistics the New York World estimates that the number of persons in the South who are excluded from pardon by the amnesty proclamation will come under 200,000, and may not reach 150,000. Of these about one-third are believed to be rebel soldiers from the border States which did not withdraw from the Union. It is estimated that the clause which refuses amnesty to those rebels whose property reaches above twenty thousand dollars, will apply to about 60,000 persons. We think it probable that the number of this class is put entirely too high. It must be remembered that the waste of property throughout the South has been enormous. There cannot now be one-half as many persons in that section who are worth $20,000 as there were before the war. In many places those who were once wealthy now have nothing left but their lands. Great numbers threw the bulk of their means into the hands of the rebel authorities and have lost all. Others have had their estates wasted by a system of remorseless taxation, hardly less destructive than the spoil of a hostile army. Hence we conclude, that only a few thousand persons will be refused pardon through the operation of the clause just mentioned.

Celebration at Canyon City.—We learn that the Fourth was celebrated in magnificent style at Canyon City. Our informant says that such a celebration would never have been expected at the place which was the seat of the enrollment rebellion. The rebels of that place as well as elsewhere, seem to be pretty thoroughly subjugated.

Judge Hill, formerly of this city, delivered the oration on the occasion. The celebration was a most enthusiastic one throughout. The people of Canyon City have reason to rejoice on account of the growth of national sentiment in that once somewhat disloyal community.

Singular Speech.—On the 15th of May a speech was delivered at Ajaccio, Corsica, by Prince Napoleon, son of Jerome, once King of Westphalia. Among other things of a singular tenor the speaker made the remarkable observation that "the disappearance of temporal power in clerical hands is essential to the onward march of mankind." It may be that this remark foreshadows a policy which is gradually to change the complexion of European politics.

The Cariboo Sentinel.—We have received a number of a new paper of this name, published weekly at Barkerville, British Columbia. The sheet is small but well filled. The number we have contains no news except what we have already given. The subscription price of the paper is one dollar per week. Mr. George Wallace is the publisher.

New Military Department.—A telegram has been received at Fort Vancouver from Sacramento which states that the Military District of Oregon has been changed into the "Department of the Columbia" and that Gen. George Wright who long commanded here has been assigned to this department with his headquarters at Vancouver.

Colfax and Party.—The Statesman has received the following from Mr. Colfax:

San Francisco, July 8.

Ed. Statesman: Leave Marysville 11th for Portland and Olympia, returning leave Victoria 26th, stopping on the road. Must therefore be very brief. SCHUYLER COLFAX.

By Overland Telegraph.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO JUNE 26.

South Carolina Affairs.

New York, June 21.—The Herald's Charleston correspondent says the delegation from South Carolina [illegible] at Washington yesterday having instructions to represent to the President [illegible] that the late slaves [illegible] will be to choose their employers [illegible] the Provisional Governor [illegible] right in resisting, but what they may have erred.

Rebel Indians Suing for Mercy.

Fort Smith, June 21.—Ex-Governor Walker of the Choctaw Nation has arrived here from Doaksville to confer with General Bussey, commanding this district of the frontier, for a return to their homes of all Choctaw Indians who had been engaged in the Confederate Army.

A temporary treaty of peace was effected with the Choctaws at Doaksville on the 19th by Col. Matthews, who was sent as a commissioner on the part of the United States. The Indians agreed to cease at once all hostilities against the United States, to return to their homes and resume their former occupations. It was adopted by a Grand Council of twenty tribes who met on the 15th. They declared that they will immediately cease all acts of hostility to the United States and send a delegation of three from each tribe to Washington to negotiate a permanent peace. The Indians appear very friendly to the United States and are anxious to resume friendly relations. The Grand Council is to meet again on the first of September. General Bussey has issued orders inviting the Indians to return to their homes, assuring them they will not be molested by the United States authorities so long as they faithfully keep the temporary treaty of peace entered into. Governor Walker gives assurances that no further trouble will be suffered from the Choctaws.

A Hint to the Canadians.

New York, June 24.—The Tribune's Montreal correspondent says General Dix goes to Quebec on a visit to the Governor General of Canada, to inform him that the business of the right of asylum so long practiced by the Canadian Government in case of rebel agents must be stopped.

Army of the Potomac Disbanding.

New York, June 21.—The Tribune's Washington special says: The headquarters of the Army of the Potomac will be broken up in a day or two. Those entitled to discharge are being speedily mustered out, and but a skeleton of the once noble, magnificent army now remains.

Affray between Soldiers and Citizens.

New York, June 21.—During the reception of volunteers at Staten Island to-day, a collision occurred between soldiers and citizens and a platoon of soldiers fired upon the crowd. Lieutenant Nelson, of the Sixth New York was wounded, it is supposed mortally. Two citizens and one soldier of the 13th New York were also wounded. Several persons were injured by stones and bricks.

Departure of Admiral Goldsborough.

New York, June 21.—Admiral Goldsborough, commander of the naval squadron, destined for European waters, sailed from Brooklyn Navy Yard to-day on board his flag ship the Colorado. Other vessels of the squadron will shortly follow the Colorado.

Ould Released.

New York, June 26.—The Times' special dispatch says the Rebel Representative Burnett, of Kentucky, has gone to that State under a military guard to be turned over to the civil authorities for trial or release as the civil government deems proper.

The Tribune's Washington special says: The remaining corps of the Army of the Potomac will be probably consolidated into one division each.

The Herald's Richmond correspondent says Robert Ould, late the Rebel Exchange Commissioner, and Major Carrington, one of his associates, have been released from Libby Prison on parole. They were confined on the charge of taking part in the notorious misappropriations of money and articles sent to the soldiers by their friends at the North. It appears Ould and Carrington did not take part in these shameful transactions. The infamous tyrant over our prisoners who escaped some time since and was retaken is now chained to the wall in his dungeon and is being made to taste some of the horrors imposed upon our boys.

Cincinnati, June 26.—The President has pardoned Charles Walsh, one of the Chicago conspirators now in the penitentiary at Columbus.

Washington, June 29.—A military order was promulgated to-day, announcing the dismantling of the field works which compose the defenses of Washington north and south of the Potomac.

Direct Communication with Richmond.

New York, June 26.—To-day, for the first time in four years direct overland communication with Richmond is to be had. The old railroad route with connecting links, steamboats and stages, being opened.

The Atlantic Telegraph.

New York, June 26.—A note from Cyrus W. Field dated London June 12th, states that the Great Eastern will probably sail from there on July 8th, and from Valentia about the 10th. All is going on satisfactorily. The greatest confidence is entertained that the cable will be successfully laid.

The Post's Washington special says that post offices will be re-opened at once in all important places in the South. The mail routes will be re-let.

Georgia papers say that the crops all promise abundantly, and the corn crop was never more favorable.

From Richmond.

New York, June 27.—The Herald's Richmond and Petersburg correspondent says that the General commanding at Richmond has issued an order announcing that slavery having ceased to exist in Virginia all State and municipal laws restraining the liberty of colored persons have become obsolete, and that hereafter, colored people will enjoy the same personal liberties as whites and be subject to only the same restrictions. The punishment of vagrancy however will not be permitted on the part of negroes any more than on that of whites. The testimony of colored persons will be read in all cases before the military courts in this Department.

Gen. Hartsuff, commanding at Petersburg, has forbidden by an official order, the holding of any more meetings by the Planters to establish a fixed price for the labor of negroes, or to make distinctions prejudicial to their interests. No difference in the rate of compensation of labor by whites or blacks will be allowed.

The Virginia Legislature adjourned sine die on Friday evening last after a session of fifty days. Nearly all the measures required by Governor Pierpont to assist him in the work of reorganization of the State Government were passed, there being little or no debate on their part. The most important of these was that of extending the elective franchise to persons excluded from it by the Alexandria Constitution. The persons are those who have voluntarily given aid and comfort to the rebellion since 1861.

The Times' Washington special dispatch says that ex-Senator Foote and some wealthy Southern sympathizers in Havana had shown Breckinridge great attention and offered to present him with a house if he would stay with them. It is rumored however that he intended to go to Spain.

The ram Stonewall still remains in the Havana harbor. No one doubted but that she would be given up to our Government.

Mosby Turned Up.

New York, June 3.—The Lynchburg (Va.) Republican says: The friends of the guerrilla leader Mosby, recently appeared at the Provost Marshal's office at Lynchburg and enquired if that partisan chief would be paroled in the event of his surrendering himself, to which an affirmative answer was given. A few days afterwards Mosby made his appearance but in the meantime orders had been received from [illegible] him not to parole him, and as he had come in under promise of a safe guard the Provost Marshal felt bound to [illegible] take advantage of his position and ordered him to leave Lynchburg, which soldiers were directed to see that he did without molestation.

Troops Discharged—Maximilian's Agent.

New York, June 22.—The World's special says 152,000 troops, 70,000 horses and 10,000,000 pounds of baggage have been transported from this city by railroad since the grand review.

The same correspondent says on good authority that Maximilian's agent [illegible], whose presence is exciting so much attention, went out on a mission of a purely financial and commercial character. He has no connection with military affairs in Mexico or the Emperor's court or Cabinet, and is exclusively occupied with matters purely financial.

How the Corpse of Abraham Lincoln was Preserved.—Washington correspondence of the N. Y. World, speaking of the appearance which the body of President Lincoln presented in the coffin says:

Death has fastened into his frozen face all the character and idiosyncrasy of life. He has not changed one line of his grave, grotesque countenance nor smoothed out a single feature. The hue is rather bloodless and leaden, but he was always sallow. The dark eyebrows seem abruptly arched; the beard which will grow no more is shaved close save the tuft at the short small chin. The mouth is shut like that of one who has put his foot down firm, and so are the eyes, which look as if in slumber. The collar is short and awkward, turned over the stiff elastic cravat, and whatever energy or humor or tender gravity marked the living face, is hardened into its pale outline. No corpse in the world is better prepared according to appearances. The white satin around it reflects sufficient light upon the face to show us that death is really there; but there are sweet roses and early magnolias and the balmiest of lilies strewn around as if the flowers had begun to bloom even upon his coffin. Looking on uninterruptedly, for there is no pressure and henceforward the place would be thronged with gazers who will take from the sight its suggestiveness and respect. Three years ago, when little Willie Lincoln died, Drs. Brown and Alexander, the embalmers or injectors, prepared his body so handsomely that the President had it twice disinterred to look upon it. The same men, in the same way, have made perpetual these beloved lineaments. There is no blood in the body; it was drained by the jugular vein and sacredly preserved, and through a cutting on the inside of the thigh the empty blood vessels were charged with a chemical preparation which soon hardened to the consistency of stone. The long and bony body is now hard and stiff, so that beyond its present position it cannot be moved any more than the arms and legs of a statue. It has undergone many changes. The scalp has been removed, the brain scooped out, the chest opened and the blood emptied. All we can see of Abraham Lincoln, in this splendid coffin, is a mere shell and effigy, a sculpture. He has no sleep but it is the sleep of marble. All that made this flesh vital, sentient and affectionate is gone forever.

Man Drowned.—On Friday of last week Mr. Wooley, a citizen of this county, was drowned in the Willamette river, about six miles above here. In company with two or three other men he was engaged in floating down logs to the saw mill at Springfield. While attempting to roll a log off a bar he accidentally got into deep water and probably became strangled, as he went down immediately and was drowned before assistance could reach him, the other men being some distance away at the time. Wooley was about fifty years of age, and was a very industrious worthy man and in every respect a good citizen. He resided at Springfield, where he leaves a family.—State Journal, July 8th.

Speaker Colfax.—The party of [illegible] Colfax, who are now traveling through a portion of the Pacific Coast States and Territories, will soon be in Portland. Mr. Colfax has been too well known for [illegible] past to require any explanation from us as to who he is. On the first Monday in December, 1855, with John Sherman of Ohio, Schuyler Colfax took his seat in the House of Representatives from the State of Indiana, and has from that day [illegible] in the National Council. It is a singular fact [illegible] before, these illustrious gentlemen [illegible] Whig Convention in Philadelphia, as delegates from their respective districts, which were considered so strongly Democratic [illegible] that it would never be possible for them to obtain office [illegible]. Again, in 1852, they met as delegates to a Whig [illegible] Convention. Sherman and Colfax were then in the highest position it was thought possible [illegible] for them to attain [illegible] that correction. But how the tide of affairs turned [illegible] of the principles these earnest advocates [illegible]. Two years passed away, the nefarious step of the conspiracy against the Union had been taken by the slave lords, and in those two old Democratic districts of the Buckeye and Hoosier States, those workers for the right were elected to Congress, and commenced their career of usefulness on the day above mentioned. [illegible] has achieved for the Nation many victories and for himself a lasting fame. Colfax continued in the House and is now its Speaker. It is pleasant for us to see [illegible] the names of these two fortunate and successful [illegible]. Mr. Colfax started in life as a Printer, and [illegible] majority we have been closely connected with [illegible] past. His stay in Portland on the occasion of this [illegible] must necessarily be of short duration, and the desire of our people should be to see him treated with that [illegible] due to his position and his qualities. In point of [illegible] affairs Mr. Colfax has been eminently popular [illegible] firmness and consistency in support of the measures of the administration. He has never [illegible] on such occasions as he has taken the floor [illegible] back the insinuations of some demagogue in debate. He has been the warm personal friend and adviser of our lamented Abraham Lincoln, and was with him but [illegible] moments previous to the event which so shocked the nation. Wherever he has traveled since his departure from the East he has been met with the most cheerful hospitality, and we should be most happy to see our City, the resident State and Government officials, together with the citizens generally, move in the matter of [illegible] the extending to him a cordial reception.

[illegible] Fire.—The attempted arson on [illegible] street last Saturday night, has been ferreted out [illegible] to such extent that two young men have been arrested, on a charge of applying the match, and [illegible] undergoing examination before Recorder [illegible]. Their names are —— Williams and John Latta. They are members of Protection Engine Company No. [illegible]. The examination has so far progressed as to show that at least the rags, saturated with kerosene oil, [illegible] the fire was to be kindled, came from the [illegible] house, but at this writing the guilt of the parties arrested has not been to us fully established. [illegible] Court room before the examination terminated [illegible]. Latta is proven to have been an industrious [illegible], with a degree of good character, in the employ of the [illegible] Iron Works. He has been a member of the Company about two months. Williams is a [illegible] of but short residence in the city. His standing [illegible] we are not posted on. No. 4 Company's [illegible] is located but a block from the place at which the fire [illegible] set, and no doubt those who are implicated in the [illegible] were instigated to do the act for the purpose of [illegible] a run. But be that as it may there was very [illegible] in hazarding the experiment, and if the parties [illegible] guilty they will most likely be held accountable [illegible], which casts a stigma on the Company, [illegible] they are members, and renders the city unsafe [illegible]. In the event of repetitions of such sport [illegible] be taught that to be a fireman is for an entirely [illegible] object than that of creating fires; and all [illegible] who have such members should expunge them [illegible] organization, in order to have a clear record. [illegible] is so direct in point of proof, that it was a fire [illegible] the absence of that Company's house. [illegible] with the most unqualified disapprobation of [illegible] and honorable members, who feel as anxious [illegible] of the law to see the culprits serving a term [illegible] if they are found deserving of it.

[illegible] Work.—The work of improving Front street at [illegible] heretofore been termed by draymen, the "dead [illegible]" and "above the rapids," by business [illegible], and upon reference to the map of the city, below the intersection of Harrison street, is [illegible] finely, and has quite altered the appearance [illegible] already. So different is it, in fact, that [illegible] on leaving the McAdamized road, stop their [illegible]—if they have not been [illegible] Portland. They fail to recognize the "situation." So far, however, nothing has been accomplished [illegible]. The street between blocks 118 and [illegible] between blocks 119 and 103, has been cut [illegible] to the extent of nearly 3,000 cubic yards of [illegible]. The great gully which has ever been a terror to [illegible], has disappeared. This, together with the space between blocks [illegible], which will require the removal in cutting and filling of about 1160 cubic yards, and that between blocks [illegible], requiring an amount of over 2,500 cubic yards, [illegible] constitute about all the heavy grading to be done. [illegible] gravel and stone will be immediately put on, after cutting and filling is completed, and the sidewalks [illegible] progress with the balance of the work. Private enterprise is also doing much for other portions of the city. [illegible] without detriment to give a statement of [illegible] done, but for First street, in the First and Third [illegible]. Also various parts of Second, Third and Fourth [illegible]. There is an enormous amount of earth on the [illegible]. To those liberal and enterprising people who [illegible] the job in hand, does all the credit belong for [illegible] action in the improvement in question. To [illegible] still stand on the order of their doing the [illegible] lend [illegible]. The Board have given them [illegible] notice that sidewalks and grading are required, and the citizens or property owners who have [illegible] to act in accordance with the same will find, [illegible] time arrives, that there are no assessments to [illegible] their property, for entry on the docket of [illegible]. The work must be done at all events. This [illegible] wishes of those in authority, and it is just [illegible] to help everybody.

[illegible]'s Court.—His Honor, Judge Holbrook had [illegible] audience yesterday. There was [illegible] none of those nervous individuals who are [illegible] arraigned on charges of having stimulated [illegible] in the ardent, but the matters which occupied [illegible] of the Court were of more importance. [illegible] Tidd & Phil. Wyman, proprietors of the [illegible] Market, plead guilty to having violated ordinance No. 111, by butchering animals within the city [illegible] of the defendants went to show that [illegible] the ordinance, but that it was purely [illegible] had been killed in the rear of the [illegible] as had broken away and could [illegible] in the slaughter house. We were not [illegible] that Councilman Gilmore, who is the [illegible] of the Health Committee, and until a day or [illegible] of the Market, would have tolerated a [illegible] like a slaughter pen in the center of [illegible] were each fined $10 and costs which [illegible] were discharged. James Bell: [illegible] was [illegible] in the sum of $500 for his appearance at the [illegible] of the Circuit Court to answer to the charge of [illegible] house of Mrs. Delia Delschnider, by crawling [illegible] a window on the morning of July 4th, [illegible] and afterwards threatening to take her [illegible]. [illegible] also held to keep the peace towards all [illegible] in the State, and particularly [illegible]. [illegible] and John Latta for attempting to set fire [illegible] on Taylor street, on the night of Saturday [illegible] the following morning, were being tried [illegible] Court last evening. The case had occupied [illegible] of the afternoon and was continued at [illegible].

[illegible] the Hunt.—The steamer Wilson G. Hunt, [illegible] of the water at the bone yard, and undergoing [illegible] a very fine model for superior speed. She [illegible] at New York, about the time the yacht America [illegible] off the prize in competition with the English [illegible] challenged the world to a [illegible], and her builders, being peculiarly American [illegible] of the benefits derived from the finely [illegible] yacht, and no doubt, to a certain extent, [illegible] after the favorite, which has since, in a great [illegible], created a revolution in marine architecture, of [illegible] and river steamers have been [illegible]. Broad of beam before the center, but above [illegible] line, sharp in the bow, deep aft, long and low, [illegible] in the eyes of connoisseurs in that line, admirably [illegible] for capacity, for stability to sustain a large [illegible] of power, and calculated to "walk the waters like a thing of life," but in finest proportions to [illegible] under a great spread of canvas. There is nothing [illegible] beautiful to a commercial man than a finely [illegible] ship, and as such many now admire the steamer [illegible] has long been the favorite in our waters. The [illegible] also appears to be nearly as sound as a new boat [illegible] on her bottom has been scarcely marred, and [illegible] taken off, as is proposed by the company, will [illegible] the vessel somewhat, and give a hull which will [illegible] the purposes of a fine craft for many years yet to [illegible].

[illegible]'s Bay Company.—The Hudson's Bay Company [illegible] had a trading post far to the interior, on [illegible], which is called Fort [illegible]. The [illegible] as a supply point for the [illegible] in the vicinity of [illegible] of Kootenai. They [illegible] goods to the post by the [illegible] of the [illegible] on the Columbia. Had the "54-40 or fight" [illegible] to, and we could have [illegible] the [illegible] against the odds of the lone star [illegible] territory for the benefit of the slave South, [illegible] of this fort would have fallen within the lines [illegible], and our people would reap the fruits of [illegible]. As it is, it comes just above the 49th [illegible].

[illegible] Packets.—On the 2nd of June the [illegible] the bark Cambridge and A. A. El[illegible] Portland were due. Our latest dates from [illegible] being June 3d, and those vessels not appearing [illegible], we suppose they must have since arrived there. The Cambridge left Astoria on the 14th of [illegible], the Eldridge on the 22d. Our reckoning that they [illegible] due at this port on the return voyage, was [illegible] premature.

[illegible] Guards.—The military organization which met [illegible] at the Court House, adopted the name of the [illegible] Guards, and elected the following officers: Captain, [illegible] McCormick; 1st Lieutenant, Edward Cahalin; [illegible] A. J. B. Barry, Orderly Sergeant, [illegible] J. Dolan, [illegible] F. Quinn, 3d Sergeant; P. Leonard, 4th [illegible]; Michael Rogers, [illegible]. The company numbers forty[illegible] on the roll.

[illegible] States District Court.—The Jury in the case of [illegible] States vs. Capt. A. M. Burns failed to agree [illegible] discharged from further service in the [illegible]. In the case of the United States vs. Alexander [illegible], demurrer was submitted. To-day Jacob Mayer [illegible] arraigned on an indictment of perjury, in the [illegible] of a sworn statement concerning his annual income [illegible] law.

[illegible]'s Funeral.—The musicians of this city [illegible] turned out to attend the funeral of Mr. Patrick [illegible] from the [illegible] House, in respect to his having [illegible] musician. The procession was preceded by a [illegible] of about twenty five pieces, playing some of the [illegible] solemn marches.

[illegible] Gold Excitement.—The Lewiston Radiator of a late date has the following under the above caption:

One of our citizens, for whose veracity we can fully vouch, tells us that some time since, in conversation with [illegible], he was told of the discovery of a gold producing [illegible] on the east [illegible] slope of the Bitter Root Mountains, and in a course eastwardly from Lewiston, bearing north. [illegible] of the Clearwater, emptying [illegible] they prospected [illegible] from fifty cents to one dollar and a half to the pan. As they followed up the stream, the gold increased in quantity, until they could get from eight to ten dollars to the pan. [illegible] the diggings extended an area of at least six miles in length, and averaging about half a mile in width. When the [illegible] came back, the Boise excitement was in the [illegible], and they were turned away with the tide in that direction. [illegible] engagements prevented their returning. This spring, business declining [illegible] the Boise region, they settled up their affairs there, and as before stated, are said to [illegible] to these mines. It may be that in our next we can give their statements from their own lips.

Last Thursday evening, an Indian Chief known as "Jesse," who lives on the Lapwai, east of Lewiston, [illegible] from a buffalo hunt in the Yellow Stone, that he was out on last fall. He stated that he saw on his return, between the Bitter Root Valley and the Coeur d'Alene Mission, five distinct encampments in which white men were busily at work, digging for gold. This is an [illegible], but circumstances may sometimes make an Indian's statement as creditable as those of a white man. This savage to whom, in common with his race, gold has but little attraction, could have had no apparent motive in telling a falsehood. He told what he had seen to Mr. Charles Silverman, who has long been a Government interpreter among the Indians of this northern country. For Mr. Silverman, "Jesse," through several years acquaintance, has always evinced the warmest friendship, and Mr. S., who called upon us to give us the information, says the Indian never told him a falsehood, and that he fully credits every word he uttered. The information was given Mr. Silverman about noon of Thursday, and in the afternoon of the same day, accompanied by two friends, he set out on the old Indian trail—which "Jesse" pronounces now passable—for these new gold fields. The nearest of these five camps is said to be about 80 miles from the Mission, in a course a little north of east. Mr. Silverman gives us some light on the question of routes from this point.

He thinks a distance of about sixty miles would be saved over the Mullan road trail, by turning into a well defined Indian trail, about three-quarters of a mile beyond Hungman's creek, which leads almost in an air line to the Mission. This is the route which Mr. Silverman and his friends design traveling. By it, the Mission is said to be not more than sixty-five miles from Lewiston. This would make the entire distance from Lewiston to the nearest of the five camps 145 miles. Mr. Silverman says he will come back immediately upon ascertaining facts, and pilot his friends to the locality.

All the World's a Stage, and all the people merely players, and we surmise that a large portion of the players thereon, must be using that justly popular preparation for the teeth, "Fragrant Sozodont," from the immense demand there is for that article. Well, it only proves that we are becoming wiser and wiser every day, for it truly merits all that is said in its favor, the most delightful, convenient and efficacious beautifier and preserver of the teeth the world ever produced.

City Ordinance No. 209.

AN ORDINANCE to prevent certain Animals from running at large in the City of Portland.

The City of Portland does ordain as follows:

Section 1. That no horses or cattle shall be permitted to run at large in the city of Portland within the following limits, viz.: Between Clay street in the city of Portland and C street in Couch's addition to the city, and to the eastward of Fourth street in the city of Portland, and of Fifth street in Couch's addition.

Sec. 2. It shall be the duty of the City Marshal to take up any such animals found running at large within the above named limits in the City of Portland, and to confine and keep it or them in a pound or inclosure, and to provide any such animal or animals with proper care and food while so confined.

Sec. 3. The City Marshal shall immediately give notice of the taking up of any such animal or animals, with a description thereof, by posting the same in some conspicuous place at the Post Office in this city, and upon the pound or inclosure where such animal or animals are confined.

Sec. 4. If before the expiration of five days from the giving of such notice, or before the selling of any such animals, as hereinafter provided, the owner of any such animal or animals, or his legal representative shall claim the same and pay all legal costs, charges and expenses for taking up and keeping, the Marshal shall deliver up such animal or animals to such owner or his representative.

Sec. 5. If any such animal or animals shall not be claimed before the expiration of five days from the giving of such notice, the Marshal shall proceed to sell the same at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, having first given notice of the time and place of such sale in a daily newspaper published in the city for at least forty-eight hours prior to the time of sale, and after deducting his legal fees and all costs, charges and expenses of taking up, keeping and selling, shall pay the proceeds into the city treasury.

Sec. 6. The City Marshal, as fees for the service of keeping any such animal or animals, shall be entitled to and receive as his legal fees two dollars per head for all animals so taken up, and ten per cent. of the proceeds of all sales when the amount shall not exceed twenty five dollars, and five per cent. when the amount of such proceeds shall exceed such sum.

Sec. 7. If the owner of any property so sold, or his legal representatives, shall at any time within one year from such sale, make satisfactory proof of his ownership, he or they shall be entitled to receive such proceeds so deposited in the treasury.

Sec. 8. All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict with this ordinance are hereby repealed.

Sec. 9. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the expiration of thirty days after its approval by the Mayor.

Passed the Common Council June 7th, 1865.
Attest: H. H. McIVER,
Aud. and Clerk.

Approved, June 1[illegible], 1865.

Sympathy with America

The murder of President Lincoln has called forth in this country and all over Europe a burst of sympathy with America, her people and her institutions that cannot fail to exert in many directions a powerful and beneficial effect. Let us first consider its action on the Americans themselves. It tends plainly in the direction of peace and good will. Thanks to a few good honest English newspapers that circulate in the United States and are regularly quoted as authorities, the transatlantic press a great deal was done from time to time to contradict the feelings of irritation produced by the malignant slander and systematic lying in which the favorite organs of the aristocracy and the middle class indulged, from the beginning of the American civil war till success carried the arms of the North in triumph to Richmond, and the brutal slaughter of the noble-hearted honest President, placed the mentality of the slaveholders rebellion in a true and most hideous light. We do not prejudge the question of the extent of the conspiracy of which Lincoln was the victim, of the number, the rank, or the social influence of the persons concerned in it, but in that deed of almost unparalleled atrocity any one who has eyes to see may perceive the legitimate and logical consequences of the frightful principles upon which slavery was maintained. The attempted and partially completed assassination of Sumner on the floor of the Senate at Washington, taught us many years ago, what a foul and malignant thing the chivalry of the man stealers and woman floggers really was. All over the South that odious act of blood thirsty ruffianism met with applause and ladies of good family in the South subscribed to present the miscreant with a testimony of their applause. From the attempted murder of Sumner to the completed murder of Lincoln the passage was as natural as it was direct, and the entire course of Southern crime and Southern disaster is a memorable lesson of the evils that inseparably and inevitably follow an attempt to found and sustain a society in flagrant opposition to the ultimate and elementary principles of human liberty and right. The great mass of the English people was at no period of the American civil war corrupted by the utterances of the lying portion of its press. When falsehood was most rampant and malignity fullblown, the intellect of England, as represented by Mill, Lyell, Cairnes, Fawcett, Newman, Goldwin Smith, Thorold Rogers, and a swarm of other distinguished men, and the great working class of England, were united in cheering on the brave true hearts of America in their great struggle, and in predicting and hailing that destruction of slavery and that vindication of free popular government which constitutes the noble and invaluable triumph of the war.

The intellect and the democracy of England have gained their victory in the success of the principles they espoused. The odious factions that so lately maligned Lincoln now join in a chorus of laudation at his tomb—the journals that reviled him when living praise him when dead. The fact is, that Toryism is somewhat cowed, and flinched for the time, ashamed. The demonstrations throughout England have been remarkable as they are honorable. The great gathering at St. James' Hall was a grand spectacle of its kind. The solemn drapery with which the galleries were hung, the American flags partially enveloped in crape, the vast multitude of earnest faces, the deep sentiment that pervaded the whole assembly, formed a scene permanently photographed upon the memory of all who were so fortunate as to be there. The speeches were of a remarkable kind. One member of Parliament after another took up the theme. All agreed in bestowing the highest praise upon the gentleness and honesty of Lincoln, and all adopted a democratic tone that has not been heard so plainly for many years. The audience, from the day, the place, and the hour of meeting, was essentially belonging to the middle class, and they cheered to the echo sound doctrines of human brotherhood and equal rights that Tory folly fancied it would hear no more of. Professor Fawcett made a noble speech, which showed that the position he has attained in a university not very celebrated for liberal opinions has neither damped his courage nor mitigated his reforming zeal. "In all history," he declared, "you would not find such a monarch as Lincoln," and, he added, "when we feel that this was his character it ought to give encouragement to every man in the world, however poor and humble he may be, when he recollects that these are a people whom we must look upon as brothers, flesh of our flesh, bone of our bone, speaking our language, and inheriting our traditions; who had the proud privilege and noble discrimination to select a man of humble origin to carry them through a great crisis, and to support him with fortitude while passing through a career such as a man never passed through before." Alluding to the malignity displayed against Lincoln by the little great, the flunkey and the reactionists in this country Professor Fawcett said, "I hope that, in future when a great and good man, a man of humble origin, rises to the head of a great and glorious State, and is placed there to emancipate his fellow men, they will not track his path with [illegible] and heap upon him everything that can [illegible] his fair name." Thus spoke the living spirit of intelligence and freedom that is growing in the University of Cambridge. The same spirit uttered its voice from Oxford in a letter from Professor Goldwin Smith, explaining his unavoidable absence from the St. James' Hall meeting. He says, alluding to Lincoln's murder which he agrees with us in tracing to the same hand as the one that led to the attack on Sumner. "The loss of this noble and blameless life is as [illegible] as that of any single life can be in such a polity as the United States. Fortunately, in such a community the loss of no single life can be irreparable. The Republic and our cause, will survive even this disaster, and though Lincoln is gone his spirit and his cause will live."

Town after town gave utterance during the latter half of the past week and the beginning of this to sentiments of a similar character, and on Monday both Houses of Parliament voted an address of condolence with the American people. Earl Russell—who has been very slow in learning a fact that any half-starved Manchester operative could have taught him long ago—declared, in moving the resolution, that "Abraham Lincoln was a man strictly suited for the conjunction;" and he further described him as remarkable for his sincerity, [illegible] and universal kindness. "His Lordship further expressed a hope that the efforts of the American Government to obtain peace and tranquility to the country would be successful, and that "the Great Republic would flourish in the enjoyment of permanent and universal freedom." The Earl of Derby seconded the motion and did it very well for him. Of course the the eleven foot of Toryism would come out on such occasion; but his Lordship affirmed that Lincoln had conducted the affairs of his country with "singular moderation and prudence." In the absence of Lord Palmerston Sir George Grey moved the address in the House of Commons. He bestowed the highest praise on Lincoln, and declared that he expressed the general feeling of the country in saying that nothing would give greater satisfaction than to witness a restoration of the Union and the abolition of slavery. Disraeli seconded the motion in a speech of pathos and eloquence, and he too, bore his testimony to the fact that "in a trial which perhaps, more than any other tested the moral qualities of the man, Lincoln performed his duty with simplicity and strength."

Where are now the taunts against the "ex-rail splitter"—where now the solemn assertion that "the bubble of democracy had burst," that popular Government had proved a failure and that a widely extended suffrage is the inevitable ruin of a State? Those who tell the truth habitually and those who tell it at rare intervals, when they cannot help it, both agree that democracy has proved itself a grand thing in America—that exalting a man of humble rank to the first station in the State, it did a wise action, from which noble and beneficent results have sprung. An aristocracy fought against this democracy and though all aristocracies throughout the world supported the rebellious body it dashed itself to pieces in its attempt and left the democracy stronger and purer than it was before. This lesson will not be lost in England; nor will the Continent be slow in taking it to heart. It strikes the empire of France with a heavier blow than that with which disease is said to be striking Napoleon III. In Germany it revives hope, aspirations and determinations that the King of Prussia and Von Bismarck fancied they had trampled out. It calls forth fresh faith and courage in Italy, which has great work to do. The false pretense of despots and oligarchic classes is that a Government by and through a people is violent, fickle and weak. America under Abraham Lincoln, has shown that it is a State, steadfast and strong. The most conspicuous features of the anti-liberal Governments is their ferocity and their falsehood. Abraham Lincoln and the citizens of the free States have displayed the opposite spirit of humanity, simplicity and truth. The moral gain of their triumph is enormous, not only for their own country, but for all mankind. With what pretense can the obstructive classes henceforth boast of their superior wisdom? Who will not laugh when any one of them oppose a fresh Reform Bill on the ground that it will let in a democratic flood? Who does not see that a very considerable flood is necessary to wash away the sickening folly, the [illegible] selfconceit, and the sinister interests of those who have no higher conception of government than to make it the means of promoting the comfort of a privileged class.

There may be many difficulties to surmount before America enters into the full reward of the victory which has cost her so dear but enough [illegible]

[illegible] to leave both that [illegible]. The contest has [illegible] by which to measure [illegible] in this country. [illegible] will not let the utterances [illegible]. Just four years to turn to premature oblivion. The worth of political men has been tried by the [illegible] of events. The country has [illegible] and wisely loved liberty and [illegible] signs of the times. It has seen [illegible] game of the deceiver and who [illegible] enough to be deceived. It can [illegible] and the equally dangerous [illegible] wealthy friends, from those reliable [illegible] who will maintain a good [illegible] the darkest hour. Such means of knowledge may be a great gain. Let us hope this will not be thrown away.—London Weekly Times

The people of the South were so terribly bitten by the Confederate paper money that in many [illegible] are still somewhat shy of taking greenbacks, insisting upon hard cash in payment for [illegible] commodities. They will soon get over this little prejudice.

Committee—[illegible] Smith, Salem, Superintendent; Davis, Corvallis, [illegible] county; Hiram Smith, [illegible]; Wm. Vaughn, Lane county; [illegible].

The farmers of Oregon, we mean to respect[illegible] of Willamette, Umpqua, and Rogue river valleys, will be called upon to supply the increasing demand of the various products of the swine, hams, side meat, bacon and lard, for the mining country. There are spots of land in the upper country capable of producing cereals fruit and vegetables, but will not be likely for many years to come, if ever, to furnish the market with hams, side bacon and lard in such quantities as will be wanted for consumption in the mines. Hence the raising of swine will be a profitable business for the farmers in the valleys we have designated.

We premise by saying that desirable food is always required to make hogs grow rapidly and to secure a good article of meat, but something else will be due to the breed of hogs to make success unquestionable. The Suffolk is a small hog rather tender in constitution, and requires good care and nutritious food and he will make a handsome growth, and the best meat for pickled pork hams or bacon at the age of twelve months. The Essex is a first rate animal, requires to be fed constantly and will and ever kept in a thriving condition. The Berkshire is a handsome shaped animal, beautiful when in good condition, matures early and furnishes pork of the first quality. Graded hogs are a great improvement on the old land alligator stock. But it must be ever borne in mind that hogs should not be suffered to run down in flesh that they should be furnished with fattening food always. Breeds will degenerate if suffered to run down. Hog raisers of the northern States often bring to market hogs weighing over 300 pounds at less than a year old. We once heard a farmer who had sold some fine hogs to a neighbor, on hearing the complaint that they did not grow as he expected, replied, that he "sold the pigs but not his hog trough."

It is an important question what is the cheapest and best food to be furnished hogs by our farmers? We would be glad that answers to this question should be given to the examining committee upon this class. We want to have the business of raising swine a specialty with many of our farmers, so that the country shall be furnished with a steady supply of the products of the hog, at prices remunerative to farmers.

THE WORLD RENOWNED

SINGER SEWING MACHINES!

182, 184, 186, 188, 190 and 194 Mott street, New York

MOTTO—"The Singer Sewing Machines are the only Machines that can Sew all kinds of Cloth and with all kinds of Thread."

Singer's Letter A Family Machine is the best and cheapest Machine in the world for Family Sewing. There is no doubt as to the value of our Machines for manufacturing purposes, but it is only of late that the public began to learn that the essential elements of a Machine best adapted to the heaviest work would also be the elements to be embodied in a Family Machine.

We would ask for our Letter A Machines the attention of Vest Makers and Dress Makers, and all those who want Machines for Light Manufacturing Purposes. They embody the principles of the Manufacturing Machines, [illegible] destined to be as celebrated for FAMILY SEWING and Light Manufacturing purposes as our Manufacturing Machines are for manufacturing purposes in general.

FAMILY SEWING MACHINES are valuable in proportion to the number of things they can do well. See what ours can do before making a purchase.

All persons requiring information about Sewing Machines, their sizes, prices, working capacities and the best method of purchasing, can obtain it by sending for a copy of the SINGER MANUFACTURING COMPANY'S ILLUSTRATED PAMPHLET, which is entirely devoted to the subject. IT WILL BE SENT GRATIS.

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action; and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS TIME, if not too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED [illegible] the MOST CONFIRMED CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to [illegible] (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.

GLOUCESTER, March 26, 1864

Messrs TILTON & McFARLAND,
Safe Manufacturers, Boston, Mass

Gentlemen: From [illegible] recommendations made by Mr. Lillie, I was induced to purchase of him one of his

So Called "Fire Proof Safes."

On the 18th of February last a fire occurred in our block which destroyed a number of buildings, and our own with the rest. We trusted our books, papers and all in the safe. After the fire the so-called "safe" was taken from the ruins, and on opening it we found that Everything had been Destroyed.

We send you the safe, with what is left of the papers and you will see that not one of them is legible or a thing enough to sustain its own weight. Having the curiosity to know how our neighbors fared in this fire, we noticed McKenzie & Hardy just opening their safe (TILTON & McFARLAND'S make) and its contents were found to be

In Perfect Order.

This led us to further investigation, and we found to our astonishment that from the large amount of combustible material in Messrs. McK. & H.'s cellar—such as lard, pork, etc., their safe was subjected to a much greater heat than that of our own, we being in the clothing business and had but little in the cellar. There was another of Lillie's safes here subjected to the same fire, faring however no better than ours.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servants,
(Signed) GEO. L. [illegible] & CO

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned to this State, after an absence of one year, during which time he has visited all the principal hospitals of Europe, among them those of Berlin, [illegible] and Paris. The following celebrated hospitals of London are among those visited by the Doctor: Guy's, High street, Borough; St Bartholomew's, Smithfield; St. Mary's, Cumb Place, Pad; Lock, Harrow road; St. Luke's, Old street; University, Gower street; Westminster, Broad Sanctuary; Charring Cross, Agar st. A. Strand; London Whitechapel road, Royal Free, Gray's Inn road; King's College, Portugal street.

DOCTOR GIBBON has also visited Doctors Acton of London, Parker of Birmingham, [illegible], and Ricord of Paris, who are considered the best physicians and surgeons in the world, and whose authority is acknowledged to be the highest in the treatment of Sexual Diseases.

DOCTOR GIBBON has obtained from them their new mode of treatment which cannot be surpassed.

DOCTOR GIBBON has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with new facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgence, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies, see that they are cured for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his special study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the [illegible]. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confusion of vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who with bogus sworn to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco are tradesmen, and become too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, [illegible] keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry. It will cost you nothing and save you many regrets; for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Doctor Gibbon [illegible] by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Doctor Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his offices of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.
